M.V. AQUANA

M.V. Aquana

The M.V. Aquana is a specially designed excursion yacht which provides many important features such as excellent shade, a private toilet, a sundeck, solid tables, comfortable seating, an embarkation platform and two walk-around decks for exciting yet comfortable fun-cruises. The boat is safety certified by the Zanzibar Maritime Authority (ZMA) and insured by Jubilee insurance company. It boasts all and more than the mandatory safety equipment, two Mercedes engines, and reliable crew.

Chapwani Island

A small section of the island was used as a cemetery in colonial times. Most of the graves belong to British sailors who were killed fighting Arab slave ships, and from world war 1 when the British ship Pegasus was bombarded and sunk by the German battleship Königsberg. There is also a small indigenous forest which is home to a colony of fruit bats, which every evening zoom off to the mainland in large numbers and for about a 100 species of birds.

 The cruise to the islands offers a rare opportunity to take photos of the picturesque shoreline of Zanzibar and the old town from a sea to shore view

Changuu island = Prison Island

This island was originally owned by Arab colonialists and used as a detention centre for disobedient slaves by the British. After the abolition of slavery, a prison was built on the island. You can still see the remains which are now used as a restaurant.

 The highlights are the endangered giant tortoises now protected in a large sanctuary and the natural holes used by the colonials as swimming pools

Bawe island

In the 1870s the first telegraph cables were brought ashore here, linking Zanzibar with the Seychelles, Aden and South Africa. Due to this the Island was a very important landmark and lifeline for Zanzibar.

 An amazing white beach and superb marine life perfect for snorkeling around the island

Zanzibar Sandbank

Not an island as such, but an incredible beautiful sandbank. It is surrounded by crystal clear blue waters and ideal for a swim or relaxation in the all white fine coral sand.

 One of the most unique places in Zanzibar to take extraordinary photos
